Fifth Sunday in Lent

Christ saves us simply by being God with us. The cross represents the culmination of the incarnation: divinity fully united with humanity. . . . Therefore, nothing that can happen to us—no pain, no humiliation, no journey into a far country or even into the valley of the shadow of death—can “separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Romans 8:39). The cross shows that in Christ God is with us, no matter what. Even when we doubt or disbelieve or think ourselves completely cut off from God, Christ has been there before us. Christ is, as the philosopher Alfred North Whitehead said of God, “the great companion—the fellow sufferer who understands.”

Prayer of the Day for the Fifth Sunday in Lent

(unison)

Almighty God, your Son came into the world to free us all from sin and death. Breathe upon us with the power of your Spirit, that we may be raised to new life in Christ, and serve you in holiness and righteousness all our days; through the same Jesus Christ, our Lord, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever. Amen.

Prayer of Confession

God of mercy, you sent Jesus Christ to seek and save the lost. We confess that we have strayed from you and turned aside from your way. We are misled by pride, for we see ourselves pure when we are stained, and great when we are small. We have failed in love, neglected justice, and ignored your truth. Have mercy, O God, and forgive our sin. Return us to paths of righteousness through Jesus Christ, our Savior. Amen.

Music Note: This year marks the 150th anniversary of Charles Villiers Stanford's birth. Born in 1852 into a well-placed Dublin Protestant family, Stanford was sent by his father to Queen's College, Cambridge. Although he lived in England for his entire adult life, there is no doubt that Stanford's Irishness had an impact on his music. In addition to this morning's "Two Preludes," which Stanford noted are "founded on old Irish church melodies," he also wrote "Irish Symphony" and "Irish Rhapsodies."

This afternoon at 3:00 p.m., John Sherer will conduct the Chicago Chamber Orchestra in a performance featuring Bach's Cantata 51. Betsy Hoats, of the Morning Choir, will be the soprano soloist at this Cultural Center (Michigan and Randolph) performance.
